

Arranging for services: What if we don't qualify for in-home care?

Anyone can choose to pay privately for services. Some families work together to pool their monies to pay for support services.

Two more economically preferred means to receive care would be by making a move to a senior housing or care community or home; or by exploring whether services through an Adult Day Service or Senior Center or Social Program may meet certain needs of a senior.

Unique solution ID: #1030

Author: Tech Support

Last update: 2007-05-07 02:24